

MED NEWS

HEADLINES FROM THE MEDITERRANEAN

Politics

The end of political ideology – Saviour Rizzo (Times of Malta)

There is very little policy difference between the two main political parties. Read more here.

Greeks and Cypriots Least Prepared to Blame Russia for War: EU Survey (Greek Reporter)

Greeks and Cypriots are the least prepared among all Europeans to put the blame solely on Russia for the war in Ukraine, according to a Europe-wide survey conducted by Eurostat, the statistical body of the EU. Read more here.

Turkey’s Senkaya Bus (Aljazeera)

A local bus driving through mountains reveals the remote lives, communities, and environments of eastern Turkey. Read more here.

Cairo releases dozens of activists, calls for dialogue with political opposition (Al-monitor)

Egyptian President Abdul Fattah Al-Sisi has called for a national dialogue with opposition groups. Read more here.

Environment

Greece to face EU court over protected areas (Ekathimerini)

Greece is facing a new referral to the European Union’s Court of Justice over improper care of protected areas. Read more here.

Mediterranean Turning into Tropical Sea, WWF Warns (Greek Reporter)

The Mediterranean is turning into a tropical sea due to rising global temperatures, the Worldwide Fund for Nature (WWF) warned in a report published recently. Read more here.

Spanish consumers will pay the gas-price cap bill, minister says (Euronews)

Spanish consumers and businesses will end up paying the cost of a temporary cap on the wholesale price of natural gas, Energy and Environment Minister Teresa Ribera said on Wednesday. Read more here.

Water scarcity in Jordan threatens nature reserve of rare Arabian gazelle (Al-monitor)

Water collection and a lack of available supplies are putting nature reserves in the east of the country under increasing pressure. Read more here.

Culture & Archeology

Canaanite Sculpture Dating Back to 2500 BC Discovered in Gaza (Palestinechronicle)

A farmer found on Monday a Canaanite sculpture dating back to about 2500 BC, while he was cultivating his land, in the city of Khan Yunis, in the southern Gaza Strip, the Palestinian official news agency Wafa reported. Read more here.

Ancient temple to Zeus uncovered in Sinai (Egypt)

Egyptian archeologists have unearthed the ruins of a Roman temple dedicated to Zeus in the Sinai Peninsula, continuing excavation work that first began in the early 20th century. Read more here.

Do you know ancient Libya? (Kawa-News)

Despite its classification as a Unesco World Heritage Site, Libya's ancient heritage remains unknown to the general public. This is certainly due to the war, which in recent years has tarnished the image of this North African country. However, its Greco-Roman vestiges, of a stunning beauty, show another facet: that of a fertile territory, prized by the emperors. Zoom on ancient Libya. Read more here.

Ancient Roman pottery workshop discovered in Egypt (The Jerusalem Post)

The site is expansive and likely held spaces for ritual worship, and food preparation and sale in addition to pottery making. Read more here.

Caricature of the Week

You can find the original link here.

End of Med News