

MED NEWS

HEADLINES FROM THE MEDITERRANEAN

Politics

Türkiye-Egypt on normalisation path, similar prospects with Syria (TRT World)

Turkish President Recep Tayyip Erdogan says “there is no room for hard feelings in politics” and that Türkiye's normalisation process with Egypt will continue at the ministerial level. Read more here.

Lebanon: Parliament fails to elect president again (ANSAMed)

The Lebanese Parliament today failed to elect the new president of the country in the eighth session summoned by the assembly's president Nabih Berru since the beginning of September. Berri scheduled a new session on December 8. Read more here.

Netanyahu's return throws future of Israel-Gulf ties into question – opinion (The Jerusalem Post)

Netanyahu personally planned the Abraham Accords, but the four-party coalition’s new policy goals put Israel in an unenviable position. Read more here.

Socialist International affirms the right of Palestinian people to self-determination (Wafa News Agency)

The 26th Congress of the Socialist International, held in Madrid during the period November 25-27, has reaffirmed the right of the Palestinian people to self-determination, including the right to their independent State of Palestine on the 1967 lines with East Jerusalem as its capital. Read more here.

Environment

UNESCO launches event in Italy to defend oceans, promote responsible consumption (Famagusta Gazette)

Under the motto “Blue is the new Black,” a two-day event of The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) took place in the lagoon city of Venice in Italy on Friday and Saturday, aimed at promoting oceans protection and responsible shopping behaviors. Read more here.

Monaco: “We can combine ecology and fashion”, assure the stylists of tomorrow (The Gal Times)

FAST FASHION On the occasion of European Week for Waste Reduction with the theme of textiles, the Oceanographic Museum of Monaco invited 70 students to raise awareness to the ecological issues related to fashion. Read more here.

18-Million-Year Old Petrified Trees Unearthed on Lesbos, Greece (Greek Reporter)

Excavations for rainwater drainage pipes brought to light fourteen more petrified trees in the Petrified Forest on the island of Lesbos. Read more here.

Israel's next government must push climate legislation – opinion (The Jerusalem Post)

The climate crisis is an environmental, economic, social, and security threat to the State of Israel. If the climate law is not enacted and if Israel does not take concrete steps to deal with the crisis, Israel will lag behind the rest of the world, and trading with the developed world will become more difficult. Read more here.

Culture & Archeology

Fragment of Egyptian Goddess found at Ancient Spanish site (Cable Free Tv)

An artifact believed to be used for a depiction of an ancient Egyptian goddess has been discovered at a 2,700-year-old site in Spain. Read more here.

A Polish-Croatian team discovered Ancient Roman Temple under a Croatian 18th Century church (Arkeonews)

Under an 18th-century church, the Church of St. Daniel in Danilo near Sibenik, Croatia, the foundations of an ancient Roman temple have been found. Read more here.

Spectacular gold find from early medieval tombs in Basel (Arkeonews)

An excavation in Basel’s Kleinbasel neighborhood, Switzerland, has uncovered 15 graves, some richly furnished, from an early medieval burial ground. Read more here.

10 Things we know about Cleopatra's (Potential) tomb location (The Travel)

Incredible finds have been discovered in Egypt pertaining to the ancient, from the most incredible artifacts found in King Tut's Tomb to the Great Pyramid of Giza. Read more

Caricature of the Week

You can find the original link here.

End of Med News